We ask Users to provide information to us only where it pertains to inquiries or orders directed to LAVIN. If you are simply browsing the LAVIN site, you will not be required to provide any personal data. We do not share your information with third parties without your knowledge, with the exception of 1) our local resellers; 2) third party transaction and fulfillment partners and 3) companies acting as our agents in hosting or otherwise supporting our site and in providing our services to customers or vendors (e.g. credit card processing, customer/support services, email providers), all of which agree to use it only for their enumerated purposes and to keep the information secure and confidential. Additionally we may share your information with entities into which our company is merged, and also with such persons, entities or authorities with whom we are required to share information by law, for example, in response to a court order, subpoena or other legal obligation.

Outgoing Communications from LAVIN

In order to keep members of our community informed about matters of mutual interest we may send announcements to the email addresses that Users provide to us. All e-mail from LAVIN will contain instructions for how to unsubscribe from our mailing list.

Such external sites, including but not limited to the site controlled by our transaction provider PayPal, have their own privacy policies. Users may want to review the privacy policies of these sites and how they collect and use personal information.
